ANNIE MOSCOW AND RACHEL SEDACCA ~ MONDAY, OCTOBER 25 AT 7PM

Annie Moscow is a poet, pianist and hit songwriter who brings a fresh perspective to subject matter not often sung about. With an explosive piano style and the voice of an angel, her very visual songs take you right to the picture. Hailing from Ventura's Gold Coast of Southern California, Rachel Sedacca writes songs of adventure on the road in her 35 foot, vintage 1971 schoolbus "Patience" with a clever perspective on life. Influenced by the seasoned, bluesy style of Bonnie Raitt, the work ethic of the Grateful Dead and the raw emotion of Janis Joplin, Rachel's stage presence is strong and undeniable. Music starts at 7:00pm; admission is $5. Doors open at 6:30pm.

BRENT BURNS IN CONCERT ~ FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12 - 7:30PM

Brent Burns was born in Seminole, Oklahoma, and moved to Phoenix in 1958. While attending high school and Community college sports were important, but music was in his blood. Brent soon strapped on an electric guitar and was fronting a rock-n-roll band. Life soon changed when he volunteered for service in Vietnam. Several months after entering combat, Brent was wounded and received the Purple Heart. After a three year recuperation in and out of military hospitals, he returned to his love of music and hit the road performing all over the United States. Later on he felt compelled to take a year off from music and hit the college lecture circuit. Offering honest, insightful, and a humorous look at life as a combat soldier, Brent was able to help others troubled with the effect of the war on their day to day lives. In response to the oil shortages of the 1980s, Burns wrote the hit song, "Cheaper Crude or No More Food," which sold 200,000 copies the first day it was released. Besides his busy performance schedule, he continues to perform at benefits around the world, including for the National Underwater Marine Agency (NUMA) of Australia, the Phoenix Suns Night Hoops Program, American Cancer Society, and Habitat for Humanity, where Brent is building a house with proceeds from his CD, "Margarita Smile." Brent was voted the 2008 Trop-Rock Entertainer of the Year - and he is still making us smile! Special early start time tonight ~ The music starts at 7:30pm. Admission is $10.

October and November 2010 PERFORMANCE SCHEDULE

Open stage at 10:30pm. $3.

Saturday, October 30: TBA, at 8pm; Sparky Robinson plays music from many genres and times, so you may hear a Cat Stevens song and then an amazing Blues tune and then....; at 9:45pm, Fred Pinch, composer and performer who still has the street smarts of the East Coast but the laid back nature of the Southwest, with originals and covers. Open stage tonight. $3.

Friday, November 5: Steve Decker with originals and covers, old and new, at 8pm; singer, songwriter, harper, and storyteller Martha Gallagher with all original blues, Latin, Scandinavian, swing, grooves, songs and tunes - it's the music of life! It's delightfully, refreshingly NOT what people expect to hear on the harp- at 8:50pm, Harroll Green, Jr., at 9:45pm with wonderful guitar work. Open stage tonight at 10:30pm. $3.

Saturday, November 6: Blue O'Connell says: "When I started playing the guitar 35 years ago, I never imagined all the meaningful and unexpected experiences that would come my way, or the remarkable and influential people I would meet. And I never thought that music would be the tool with which I could make a real difference in my life and the lives of others. All of the best memories of my life seem to have a song attached to them. Because music has meant so much to me, I've made it my mission to bring music to others, to provide them with a soundtrack for their lives' most significant moments." Blue developed a severe hearing loss in her 20's, and now is a certified practitioner of music, sharing with others her direction., at 8pm; Barefoot and Pregnant was born from a desire to add a female voice to the famous acoustic gospel brunch meetings of Sister Monicque that attract many local Tempe musicians. From a primordial stew of cheesy-grits, country ham and guitar picking came a little gospel band with 5 gals. Their repertoire also includes 50's and 60's lady country standards and other songs of love gone way wrong. Girl-power harmonies continue to be the driving force for Barefoot and Pregnant, with accordion, ukulele, upright bass, washboard, snare and guitar completing their unique sound; at 9:20pm. No open stage tonight. $6.

Friday, November 12: Brent Burns In Concert! Reserve your seats through Brent's website or by emailing nia@yellowdogs.com - doors open at 6:45pm, music at 7:30pm - $10.

Saturday, November 13: Kevin Roth is known around the US as one of the worlds most innovative dulcimer players; he also plays autoharp, piano and sings... Kevin has 12 albums on Folkways/Smithsonian Records, and 25 on his own and other various labels; he has performed in major folk festivals and shared stages with Pete Seeger, Peter, Paul & Mary, Noel Paul Stookey, Judy Collins, Arlo Guthrie and Odetta, at 8pm; at 9:20pm, The Dusty Buskers (TBC) from Tucson.... high energy alternative everything! $6.

Friday, November 19: Scot Ryder and Enchanted Dreams ~ Scot Ryder is a Solo Fingerstyle Acoustic Guitarist. He blends many styles from Bach to Rock and incorporates many classical flourishes into what he calls percussive fingerstyle acoustic guitar. Also see Scot with Enchanted Realms, a medieval Folklore minstrel band. Their music so beautiful and haunting with the enchanting voice of Lady Ivy~listen as they take you on a musical journey...at 8pm; Wylow Ravenscroft and the Ghazaal Beledi Band is Kevin on drums, Jeremy on soprano sax, pennywhistle and vocals and Wylow on guitar, bouzouki and vocals; they play Middle Eastern and World music, as well as Irish, Arabic, Greek, East Indian, and Spanish music, at 9:20pm. No open stage. $6.

Saturday, November 20: Paddy Keenan and John Walsh in a special concert night of Irish music that you will remember for quite some time! We are also working with Four Peaks Irish Arts on organizing some workshops while these amazing men are here in town - more info on that as it develops! Check our website and Four Peaks for more information. $20 with a discount for members of designated organizations.

Friday, November 26: Kathy Mabry at 8pm - a unique and wise perspective on life infuses Kathy's original songs, some witty and some heart wrenching; at 8:50pm, Yoni G is a singer/ songwriter from Berkeley CA. His music is lyrically driven and ranges in subject matter from love and life to death. Accompanied by his brother on piano and lady friend on trumpet, his musical style is layered with jazz, bluegrass and folk. Third set at 9:45pm is TBA. Open stage tonight. $3.
